Membership at Spokane Public Radio

We would like to take this opportunity to THANK YOU for supporting SPR! We would not be able to do what we do everyday without your support. Unlike many other public radio stations, we receive no support from a university— we are truly Listener-Member supported. Members in our listening area provide more than half of our operating budget. Your ongoing support of SPR is vital to the health of this station. Your support allows SPR to continue to bring you the programming and events you have come to expect.

Our pledge to you is to continue to bring the local and national programming, arts and culture, news and information that you expect from Spokane Public Radio.

Please consider one of the many ways to give this upcoming year. Whether you become a Sustainer, with an on-going monthly gift, give a gift of stock, utilize your IRA RMD, or donate a vehicle, we have an option that will meet your giving needs. For more information please give us a call at 509-328-5729 or visit our website at www.spokanepublicradio.org/membership.

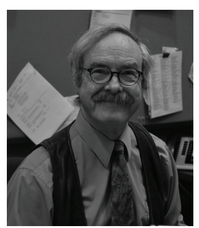
Live from the KPBX Performance Studio

During the dark days of the COVID-19 pandemic, our KPBX performance studio was a lonely place. Hosting a wide range of singers and instrumentalists and sharing their work with listeners is a part of our public radio DNA; not having musicians to host was both frustrating and sad.

That was then, but now we're back! In just the first three months of 2023, we've hosted almost 20 programs featuring local and regional performers who share both their stories and musical expression with us. Along the way we've enjoyed the solo artistry of classical guitarist and retired U of I professor James Reid as well as the brilliant ensemble work of the Spokane String Quartet and the Michal Palzewicz Trio, each from very different places on the musical spectrum.



Our Yamaha piano has had a workout, as a variety of pianists has enlightened and entertained us. One of Spokane's music treasures, Archie Chen has been a regular; we've also heard from brilliant solo artists Yun Joung Park, pianist and composer Cheryl Green, and our youngest contributor, 13-year-old Daniel Beal.

Piano collaborating with other instruments has been a regular occurrence too, most notably through our visits from EWU music major students and a pair of fine sessions with Whitworth University piano professor Judith Schoepflin and her instrumental colleagues.

And let's not forget musical theatre! The first quarter of 2023 has been a busy one, with visits (and performances) from Stage Left Theatre (Sweeney Todd), Spokane Civic Theatre (Jersey Boys), and Aspire Community Theatre (All Shook Up).

Yes, it's been busy, but it's what we do and what we enjoy doing: sharing fine performances with you, the listener. While there is an undeniable magic to hearing these performances as they happen, we are truly pleased to offer a chance to re-hear any of these (and see some video clips as well) at SpokanePublicRadio.org. Check both the From the Studio and Piano Bench pages for great music and conversation, and stay tuned: we've got more for you—with an increased video presence—as we continue through 2023—the year the music came back!

Program Updates

Guitar Hour with Michael Millham

Thursdays from 11 a.m.- 12 p.m. on KPBX 91.1

SPR's weekly classical guitar show, the Guitar Hour was adopted by host Michael Millham in January. A past guest host of the Guitar Hour, Millham said he looks forward to sharing a lifetime of collected guitar fine points, lore, and recordings during his stewardship of the beloved show further into the new millennium.

San Francisco Symphony Orchestra

Wednesdays from 8 p.m.- 10 p.m. on KPBX 91.1

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra replaces Orchestras from the European Union this quarter. Since its beginning in 1911, the San Francisco Symphony has been known for innovative programs. Today, the Orchestra's artistic vitality, recordings, and groundbreaking multimedia educational projects carry its impact into American musical life.
