Membership at Spokane Public Radio

We would like to take this opportunity to THANK YOU for supporting SPR!

Our immense gratitude goes out to you; we are truly Listener-Member supported. Members in our listening area provide more than half of our operating budget and are vital to the health of this station. Your support allows Spokane Public Radio to continue to provide the high quality programming and events you have come to expect (Will we see you at the Record Sale or a Kids' Concert?).

Your help ensures that we can continue to provide local journalism, comprehensive arts coverage, and of course, quality music to brighten your day! Please keep SPR in mind when making your giving plans for 2024. Whether you give a one-time donation, become a Sustaining Member with an on-going monthly gift, give a gift of stock, utilize your IRA RMD, or donate a vehicle SPR is here because of YOU!

Many membership options are available to support KPBX, KSFC and KPBZ, they can be found at www.spokanepublicradio.org/membership. You can also always give us a call at 509-328-5729, our office hours are 9:00 am – 5:00 pm, Monday – Friday.

- Beth Severn-Johnson, SPR Membership Manager

The Guide

Your Connection to Spokane Public Radio

Volume 44 / No. 1 January through March 2024

Locally Produced Programs

In addition to national shows, Spokane Public Radio provides more than 18 locally produced programs to our listeners. Programs like Jazz 'Till Midnight, Johnson's Improbable History of Pop, Front Porch Bluegrass, Soundspace, The Downhome Blues Show, Morning Classical and A Little Afternoon Music are produced in-house by people who live and work in our communities. You can enjoy the voices and expertise of Spokane-area producers daily on SPR stations.

SPR's community producers are on the cutting edge of musical and cultural happenings in the Inland Northwest. John Johnson highlighted the Emerson brothers on Johnson's Improbable History of Pop years before the Dreaming Wild movie, based on their life, came out. He continues to provide insights into the Emerson brothers' lives by bringing the people who surround the story, and the brothers themselves, to his show.

Hosts Rachel Bade-McMurphy, Michael Milhelm, Jim Tevenan, and E.J. Iannelli bring the region's hottest performers to their shows, Friday Afternoon Jazz, Guitar Hour, Morning Classical, Piano Bench and Thursday Arts (P)review. Listeners can enjoy special live performances multiple times per week on our stations.

Spokane Public Radio is expanding its musical reach weekdays on A Little Afternoon Music. A variety of hosts bring music of all genres, including classical, pop, jazz, and more to KPBX Monday through Thursday at 2 PM.

But it's not all about the music. Regionally beloved Movies 101 and new Men In Charge Briefs bring local insight to the latest in cinema and a comedic break to your routine. Poetry Moment brings regional and national poets to Spokane Public Radio every weekday.

Embrace Spokane Public Radio's uniquely local community produced shows daily on KPBX 91.1 and KSFC 91.9.

Program Updates

Sounds of the Future

Sundays from 12 a.m.- 1 a.m. on KPBX 91.1

Aiden Cook brings you the world of music created by both man and machine- blistering synths, digital drums, chopped samples and more each week as he explores the world of electronic music. From the avant-garde Electro-Acoustic compositions of the late 1950's to the underground Acid House of the 1980s to the modern Ambient and Digital Hardcore of today, join as he delves weekly into an eclectic mix of electronic music both new and old.

Orchestras from the European Broadcasting Union

Wednesdays from 8 p.m.- 10 p.m. on KPBX 91.1

Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra is replaced in the new year by Orchestras from the European Broadcasting Union. This show brings performances from the London Philharmonic, BBC Symphony, BBC Scottish Symphony, the Frankfurt Radio Symphony, Danish National Symphony, Luxembourg Philharmonic, Vienna Radio Symphony, Odessa Philharmonic, Bavarian Radio Symphony, Bergen Philharmonic, Berlin Radio Symphony, NHK Symphony Tokyo and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

The Middle

Sundays from 3 p.m.- 4 p.m. and Wednesdays from 9 a.m. - 10 a.m. on KSFC 91.9

If you want to know what's going on in this country, you almost always have to pick a side. But what if you're in the middle? The Middle is a new live Public Radio call-in show that elevates the voices of everyday Americans in the geographic and political middle to bring them into the national conversation.

Open to Debate

Thursdays from 3 p.m.- 4 p.m. on KSFC 91.9

Open to Debate is a platform for intellectually curious and open-minded people to engage with others holding opposing views on complex issues. Through weekly debates, Open to Debate systematically brings opposing viewpoints together for a respectful and open-minded exchange of ideas.

Freakonomics

Saturdays from 9 a.m.- 10 a.m. on KSFC 91.9

Freakonomics ferrets out connections between seemingly unrelated things. The program explores the riddles of everyday life and the weird wrinkles of human nature—from cheating and crime to parenting and sports—using the tools of economics to explore real-world behavior.
