West Norwich.

West Norwich and vicinity is greatly excited over the supposed murder of John Harrison, a colored preacher, who resided in this place some six or seven years ago, and who mysteriously disappeared from his home. It is now thought that he was murdered by some ruffians of this place and buried in the cellar of his house, and last Friday Sheriff Armstrong and a party of men from Norwich came and tried to dig up the bottom of the cellar. They unearthed a number of things belonging to Mr. Harrison, among them being a valise and a bible presented him by Mr. Armstrong and which he never left home without taking with him, strongly indicating that he was murdered, but the ground being frozen so hard they postponed digging until the ground is thawed when a thorough investigation will be made.—State's Attorney J. C. Enright was in this place last Thursday on business.—Sheriff Hoffman and N. P. Wheeler of W. R. Junction were in this place last Friday on business.—Benjamin Abbott is quite sick and under the doctor's care.
