Purpose & Background

Over the last 20 years, numerous courageous survivors have spoken their truth and brought lawsuits related to the sexual abuse of children in the Catholic Church in Illinois. Survivors became plaintiffs in civil lawsuits and together with their attorneys were able to reveal secret church records using the civil litigation process. These lawsuits resulted in the release of identities and histories of sexually abusive individuals and the release of documents and records reflecting the knowledge of institutions that covered up the sexual abuse.

The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois contains the names of clerics, religious employees and seminarians associated with Catholic Dioceses in the State of Illinois, including those who were assigned within or working in Illinois, who have been accused of sexual misconduct with minors. These dioceses include the Archdiocese of Chicago and Dioceses of Belleville, Joliet, Peoria, Rockford and Springfield. The information in this Anderson Report is derived from publicly available sources, claims made by survivors to the dioceses and religious orders responsible for the offenders, and legal settlements made as a result of claims for child sexual abuse. While lawsuits were filed involving many of these alleged perpetrators, the vast majority of the claims against these individuals have been settled or have not been fully evaluated in a civil or criminal court. Accordingly, in most cases the allegations have not been proved or substantiated in a court of law. Consequently, unless otherwise indicated, all of the allegations should be considered just allegations and should not be considered proven or substantiated in a court of law. In some situations, the statute of limitations has expired preventing the merits of the allegations from being considered by a court of law.

It is believed that the Dioceses in Illinois have not publicly made available the full histories and their knowledge of their sexually abusive agents and employees. The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois is intended to raise awareness about the important issue of sexual abuse, provide the public with vital information including assignment histories, and provide awareness and healing to survivors of sexual abuse. Assignment histories are approximations and were compiled from the Official Catholic Directory, bishopaccountability.org, statements attributed to Diocesan and Religious officials, Diocesan and Religious records, and media reports.1

Jeff Anderson & Associates, P.A.
Supporting Illinois Abuse Survivors for Decades

In most cases, childhood sexual abuse goes unreported or victims/survivors break their silence many years after the abuse occurs. While there are many legal barriers to prosecuting those responsible for the abuse, our firm has worked to overcome these barriers for more than 30 years. As pioneers of child protection through civil litigation, we are aggressively committed to this cause and capable of handling the most complex legal issues in courts across the United States.

We are smart, tough and relentless, but the virtue that ultimately sets us apart is our compassion. We are people who feel deeply and work tirelessly in response to an unjust world. We have a reputation for being the best at what we do and that begins and ends with our ability to support, protect and guide survivors along their journey toward justice and healing. As sexual abuse lawyers, we have represented thousands of survivors of child sexual abuse against individual offenders and the institutions that harbor these offenders. We are engaged with a national network of attorneys who share our mission, and when we take a case, we exhaust every imaginable resource in order to serve our clients’ needs.

Since 2001, Jeff Anderson & Associates, in partnership with Frost Pearlman, have advocated for survivors’ rights in Illinois and represented hundreds of Illinois survivors. In addition to seeking legal accountability, Jeff Anderson & Associates uses novel legal theories, including public nuisance, to help prevent child sexual abuse and bring awareness to child sexual abuse across the country.

Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois

The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois is intended to be a chronology and analysis of the sexual abuse of children in Catholic institutions within the State of Illinois, including a discussion of how the highest Diocesan and Religious officials enabled the abusers and covered up crimes of sexual misconduct and abuse.

The data reveal the horrifying scale of priests sexually assaulting minors to the present day. The data collected illustrate the patterns and practices of Diocesan and Religious officials, including orchestrating an institutional cover-up of enormous magnitude. Perhaps most shocking among the discoveries is that some perpetrators were intentionally transferred and retained in trusted positions with direct access to children even after they were known to sexually abuse children. Modern means of analysis and availability of data through the Internet, social media, and public information is exposing perpetrators who operated in these Dioceses, but until full transparency and accountability exist, children remain in grave danger.

Historically, the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois, like many other archdioceses and dioceses, knew of predator priests who posed a significant danger to children. The sexual abuse of children has long been a crime in Illinois. However, Diocesan and Religious Order officials chose and continue to keep these crimes hidden, allowing their priests continued and unfettered access to children. During the 1980s and 1990s, occasional bits of information about abuse within Catholic institutions surfaced, but the Catholic Church's strict policy of secrecy kept important information and the full extent of the problem hidden from the public. This has continued despite mandated reporting laws.

Religious Clergy and Lay Persons in Illinois

There are two types of clergy identified in The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois. Diocesan clergy work in territorial divisions or “Dioceses” and answer to a bishop who is granted authority by the Pope. Religious clergy are professed members of Orders. They are not tied to geographical areas and instead receive faculties from the bishop in the territory in which they work. Also included in the Anderson Report are lay persons who worked in Catholic institutions. These lay persons include seminarians, teachers and coaches.
2018 Preliminary Findings of the Investigation into Catholic Clergy Sexual Abuse of Minors in Illinois

In 2018, the State of Illinois Office of the Attorney General released preliminary findings of its investigation into Catholic Clergy sexual abuse. During the first 4 months of the investigation, the Office of Attorney General found:

- The scope of the problem of clergy sexual abuse of minors in Illinois is significantly more extensive than the Illinois Dioceses have reported;
- Illinois Dioceses disregarded survivors and failed to investigate allegations of clergy sexual abuse;
- Increased transparency is necessary for accountability and healing;
- The processes and practices put in place by the Illinois Dioceses to respond to clergy sexual abuse are flawed;
- The investigatory processes deployed by the Illinois Dioceses fail to prioritize the survivor and provide healing; and
- Illinois Dioceses will not resolve the clergy sexual abuse crisis on their own.

The Office of Attorney General’s review determined that the Illinois Dioceses had received allegations related to sexual abuse for approximately 690 clergy, but had only publicly identified 185 clergy as being “credibly” accused of sexual abuse.

Jeff Anderson & Associates believes that there are likely hundreds of alleged perpetrators within the Dioceses and religious orders in Illinois whose names have never been made public. The fight for information and the names of those alleged perpetrators continues.

The Danger of Sexual Abuse in the Catholic Church of Illinois Today

The danger of sexual abuse in Illinois is clearly a problem of today, not just the past. This will continue to be a danger until the identities and histories of sexually abusive clerics, religious employees and seminarians are made public.

At least three other allegations of sexual abuse implicating Fr. Brigham were reported to Archdiocesan officials. A 2002 letter copied to Cardinal Francis George stated that Fr. Brigham had engaged in "high school age manipulation" with a young man at the rectory and was part of the church's sex abuse network with other priests. Fr. Brigham's priest file also contains a 2007 report of sexual abuse which states that a survivor was told that Fr. Brigham belonged to a club that picked up little boys and sexually abused them.

Fr. William J. Clouter

Notes: Prior to his ordination in 1975, Fr. William Clouter allegedly brought minor boys to the Mundelein Seminary and sexually abused them. The Archdiocese of Chicago learned of Fr. Clouter’s alleged abuse of children within the first several years of his ordination. The principal of a school to which Fr. Clouter was assigned stated he no longer wanted Fr. Clouter on campus after hearing reports of sexual misconduct from students. In 1975, Fr. Clouter allegedly took two boys to his cabin and molested them. Fr. Clouter allegedly threatened the boys with a handgun and said he would kill their parents if they reported the abuse. The Oak Lawn Police Department was notified of the allegations, but no charges were filed. Fr. Clouter was sent to the House of Affirmation in Whitinsville, Massachusetts for treatment for approximately six months. By 1976, Fr. Clouter was back in Chicago and assigned to work unsupervised in parishes throughout the Archdiocese. Fr. Clouter was named in a lawsuit in 1995 and he resigned from ministry in 1995. In 2002, Fr. Based on an announcement by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, it is believed that Fr. Colletti may still be residing in Southern California and spending time in Illinois visiting his family. In 2018, Fr. Colletti was named on the Diocese of Lafayette’s list of “Diocesan Priests with Substantiated Allegations of Sexual Misconduct with Minors” and was in the process of being laicized by the Vatican.

Kurz is believed to have worked at St. Victor in Calumet City in the Archdiocese of Chicago from 1995 to 1997. In 2005, Msgr. Kurz was named in a lawsuit, alleging he sexually abused a boy attending Christ the King in Pueblo, Colorado. The abuse allegedly began in approximately 1999 and continued for at least 13 years. Following the allegation, the Diocese of Rockford conducted an investigation and determined the allegation to be unfounded and false. No punitive action was taken against Msgr. Kurz. Fr. Kenneth Lewis

Notes:
Three years after his ordination in the Diocese of Tulsa, Fr. Kenneth Lewis was sent to a treatment center after he was accused of inappropriate behavior with several boys. Following treatment, Bishop Slattery allowed him to return to work at a different parish within the Diocese of Tulsa. In 2002, the allegations against Fr. Lewis were made public. He retired shortly thereafter. News reports stated that at least six boys came forward accusing Fr. Lewis of sexual abuse. It was also reported that multiple Church officials had been aware of Fr. Lewis' inappropriate behavior with boys and that two investigations were conducted, one in 1994 and the other in the summer of 2002, but no action was taken against Fr. Lewis. No criminal charges were brought against Fr. Lewis concerning the six accusations due to the statute of limitations. In 2012, a boy filed a police report, alleging Fr. Lewis had sexually abused his son, then 11 years old, during a trip to Chicago. The case was referred to Evanston, IL, police who decided not to pursue charges, however, a civil case was filed in 2017 and settled in 2019. A Chicago diocese representative handled the case against Fr. Lewis and, nearly a decade and a half after the abuse occurred, Fr. Lewis was criminally charged in late 2017. Fr. Lewis was not immediately taken into custody because he had been in living in Ecuador. In late March of 2018, U.S. law enforcement officials were alerted when Fr. Lewis bought a plane ticket from Ecuador to Atlanta. Homeland Security apprehended him in Atlanta in May 2018. Upon his return from Ecuador Lewis was taken to Chicago where he was charged with felony predatory criminal sexual assault of a child. It is believed Lewis is free on bail. His current whereabouts and whether he has access to children are unknown.

Fr. Raymond Lukac

Notes:
Fr. Raymond Lukac had been a priest for less than one year before accusations of sexual abuse and misconduct surfaced. The first documentation shows the Chancellor of the Diocese of Greensburg, Cyril Vogel, met with Fr. Lukac in 1964 regarding numerous reports and letters from parishioners of St. Cyril and Methodius, complaining that Fr. Lukac appeared to be romantically involved with an 18-year-old organist for the parish. Following the allegations, Fr. Lukac was transferred to Holy Trinity parish, where he met Matthew Yanoke. Discovered Fr. Lukac was involved with a 17-year-old girl. It was later discovered and reported to the Diocese of Greensburg that Fr. Lukac had impregnated the girl and married her immediately when she turned 18 years old.
A few years later, in 1993, the Bishop of the Diocese of Gary, Andrew Grunke, granted Fr. Lukac admission into his diocese on a trial basis. Fr. Lukac was allowed to teach at Bishop Noll Institute, a high school in Hammond, Indiana. Following more concerns over his behavior with girls, Fr. Lukac was removed from the Diocese of Gary. Afterwards, he moved to and worked in an unofficial capacity at St. Stanislaus in Poynette, Illinois, until the Bishop of Greensburg, William Conner, could find a new diocese that would accept him. After asking many dioceses, the Bishop of the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston, Joseph Hodges, agreed to take Fr. Lukac. After only a short time in the Wheeling Diocese, Fr. Lukac was removed from a high school after being "rather strong in his language in a talk to some of the high school students." Following the removal, Fr. Lukac was assigned a position as chaplain in the Veterans Administration Service, where it is unknown how long he worked.
In 2006, the Archdiocese of Chicago received information from the Diocese of Greensburg after receiving a complaint that Fr. Lukac had sexually abused a minor during his time in the Chicago Archdiocese. According to the complaint, Fr. Lukac had sexually abused a 17-year-old girl in the St. Stanislaus rectory sometime between 1963 and 1964. Six years later, in 2012, another allegation was made against Fr. Lukac, claiming he had sexually abused a girl while serving in the Diocese of Gary between 1981 and 1984. Fr. Lukac's status as a priest, his whereabouts and whether he had access to children from 1969 until his death in 2000 are unknown.

Notes: Fr. Robert E. Mayer was first accused of sexual abuse in 1982 when a mother filed a lawsuit alleging Fr. Mayer had exposed himself to and attempted to undress and molest her 15-year-old son and at least one other St. Edna’s altar boy on an outing to Fox Lake, Illinois. The lawsuit was settled in 1985. The mother who filed the lawsuit alleged that two of the boys who were allegedly sexually abused eventually died by suicide. The initial lawsuit and subsequent settlement were kept secret by the Archdiocese while Fr. Mayer was transferred to three different parishes.

In 1991, Fr. Mayer left his assignment at St. Odilia for “personal reasons.” It wasn’t until a few months later that the truth was disclosed to the parishioners of St. Odilia. Fr. Mayer had a history of alleged sexual abuse. He reportedly had been removed from St. Odilia for making sexual advances to parish boys and engaging in sexual misconduct with a 20-year-old man. Following the disclosure, a 15-year-old girl came forward alleging she had been sexually abused by Fr. Mayer. In connection with the girl’s allegations, Fr. Mayer was indicted on four counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse, convicted, and sentenced to five years in jail. Since then, Fr. Mayer has been accused by at least another six individuals and has been involved in at least two settlements. Fr. Notes: Fr. Daniel J. McCormack is a convicted sexual abuser. The trial of sexual abuse allegations against Fr. McCormack date back to before he was ordained, with the first known allegation dating back to the late 1980s. When he was in seminary, numerous other allegations were reported throughout his tenure as a priest, many of which were reportedly ignored or covered up by the Archdiocese. In 2015, Fr. McCormack was arrested on charges relating to sexual abuse, but he was released due to a lack of evidence. Following his arrest, Fr. McCormack was kept in ministry and even promoted to dean. Fr. McCormack was, however, arrested again in 2006, and this time was criminally charged.

In 2007, through a plea deal, Fr. McCormack pled guilty to molesting five boys and was sentenced to five years in jail. Following his release from jail in 2009, Fr. McCormack was ruled a danger to the public and confined to a detention facility for sex offenders in Rushville, Illinois. In 2018, a judge ruled Fr. McCormack sexually violent and confined him to the detention facility for sex offenders indefinitely.

An internal report by the Archdiocese of Chicago found 30 substantiated claims of sexual abuse by Fr. McCormack. Out of the alleged victims, at least six have reached settlements with the Archdiocese of Chicago. Fr. McCormack is included in the Archdiocese of Chicago’s list of clergy with substantiated allegations of sexual misconduct with minors.

Fr. Octavio Munoz Capetillo

Notes: Fr. Octavio Munoz Capetillo is originally from Mexico and was ordained in the Archdiocese of Chicago in 2004. From 2009 to 2013, Fr. Munoz was the Director of Casa Jesus, a program that recruited young men from Latin America into the priesthood. An alumni of the program himself, Fr. Munoz became the Co-Director in July 2008 before being promoted to Director. On July 7, 2015, a Casa Jesus employee discovered a laptop with sexually explicit images of children in Fr. Munoz’s living quarters while he was allegedly pastor at St. Pancratius in Brighton Park, Illinois. Instead of notifying law enforcement, the Archdiocese of Chicago first hired a private investigator. Pending a police investigation regarding the sexual images and materials on his computer, Fr. Munoz was removed from ministry on July 27, 2015. In September of 2016, the investigation led to Fr. Munoz being charged with one felony count of possession of child pornography. Authorities reported finding hundreds of videos that appeared to depict minors being sexually abused, emails containing stories of sexual abuse of children, and undergarments intended for children. A warrant was issued and Fr. Munoz was arrested on August 23, 2016. Fr. Munoz was extradited from Maryland, where he had been receiving treatment at St. Luke’s Institute, an institution known for treating priests accused of child sexual abuse. Fr. Notes: Before Fr. Gibbs was even ordained a priest, Fr. - 1983-1988: Retired
Fr. William Graham

Notes: Fr. William C. Graham was ordained for the Diocese of Duluth in 1976. He served as a Professor of Theology at Lewis University in Romeoville, Illinois, from 2000 until 2005. In a 2016 lawsuit, Fr. Graham was accused of sexually abusing a 15 to 16-year-old boy in 1977 to 1978 at St. Benedict in Duluth, Minnesota. The Diocese of Duluth placed Fr. Graham on leave in 2016. In 2018, a jury action was taken. Following the 2016 lawsuit, Fr. Graham denied the allegation and filed a countersuit against the survivor. In 2016, the Diocese of Duluth found the allegations of child sexual abuse against Fr. Graham to be credible. In 2018, a jury ruled that the survivor interfered with Fr. Graham’s contractual duties when he filed a lawsuit against Fr. Graham, but did not intentionally inflict emotional distress upon Fr. Graham. Fr. Graham is on the Diocese of Duluth’s list of “I𝔏恕g with credible claims against them concerning sexual abuse of a young person.” According to the Diocese of Duluth, Fr. Graham has been removed from ministry and his faculties have been revoked. Whether Fr. Graham’s current whereabouts, status as a priest, and whether he has access to children is unknown.

Duggan was sent for a psychological evaluation, during which he admitted to sexually abusing young children. Following the admission, Bishop James C. ### Br. Ronald Justin Lasik, C.F.C.

Notes: Br. Ronald Justin Lasik was convicted in 1999 by a Canadian jury of sexually abusing six boys at Mount Cashel Orphanage in St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada. Police and prosecutors called Br. Lasik the worst of Mount Cashel's abusers, of which there are believed to be numerous, and a judge noted his lack of remorse and the seriousness of the abuse when he sentenced him to 10.5 years in prison. Unexpectedly, a third of the way through his prison term, Br. Lasik was released on good behavior and deported to New York in 2003. Following his deportation, Br. Lasik went to live at a Christian Brothers residence about 100 miles north of New York City and was registered as a sex offender in New York and labeled as a high-risk by the state. In 2013, Br. Lasik was accused in a civil lawsuit of sexually abusing two boys at St. Laurence High School in Chicago, Illinois.
